EVEN DEMOCRATS CAN'T TAKE IT

Even some Democrats rebel at the heavy-handed political tactics of Big Daddy Unruh, as indicated by the following sequence:

A POLITICAL "THANK-YOU" LETTER TO A DEMOCRAT

JESS UNRUH

I would like to personally thank you for the support you gave me during the Primary campaign. Your help and the help of many others brought us an overwhelming victory.

Our campaign is not yet over. We need to win in November and with your continued support and active help, we will return the State of California to the people.

Once again, my sincere thanks.

Warmest regards,

John

MESSAGE SIDE OF ENCLOSED, POSTAGE-PAID CARD

There are over 4,000,000 persons in California who would be eligible to vote in November if they register. Most are potential Democrats.

What we do before the close of registration on September 10th can determine who wins in November. Please return this card today and indicate the way you can help in our registration drive.

- ☐ I want to become a Deputy Registrar. Please send application.
- ☐ I am already a Deputy Registrar. Please have the Registration Chairman contact me.
- ☐ I am not yet a registered voter but I want to help in the drive. Please have the Registration Chairman contact me.

COMMENT BY THE RECIPIENT OF THE LETTER

This is the most blatant attempt to enlist Democrat registration I have ever seen. This whole registration business seems pretty vulnerable if people want to take advantage of it, and it offends me when they do. It is not beyond the realm of possibility that I would get no accommodation from such a recruited registrar if I wanted to change my registration. They could manage to make a mistake that would invalidate it.

OUR COMMENT

Job of a registrar is to register voters impartially. When Democrats solicit Democrats to register Democrats - and that's what is strongly implied by Big Daddy's card - politics is moving pretty deep into the gutter. . . But Big Daddy should feel right at home.

Boron Stands In Way Of Blooming Desert

BAKERSFIELD — A modern effort to make the desert bloom has been launched on the west side of Kern County. The long-held belief that water was the only thing needed to make that barren land a second Garden of Eden was dealt a severe blow when a series of surveys uncovered heavy-textured soils loaded with unfriendly boron, sodium and salts.

A number of pioneer growers, seeking to make use of the newly available water from the State Water Project found their crops destroyed by the toxic effects of the boron in the soil.

Now, in a joint effort, scientists and growers are seeking ways to overcome the obstacles.

Soil specialists from the University of California, along with local Extension Service specialists are conducting an investigation. A landowner has turned over 13 acres of land. The Kern County Water Agency is donating water; and the Lost Hills Irrigation District is delivering water to the site.

"It's the toughest soil problem we've ever tackled," Dr. Dave West of the Kern County Farm Advisor's office noted.

But the potential could make it worthwhile. At stake is as much as 250,000 acres which could be opened to the production of food in the future if the soil problem can be whipped.

EDISON CO. RIGHTS-OF-WAY USED FOR PARKS

LOS ANGELES — In Southern California where land is worth its weight in gold ingots, many communities, hard pressed for parks, are finding the use of Southern California Edison company rights-of-way a solution to their recreational space needs.

In the last few years, city fathers of 18 cities have licensed 27 pieces of Edison land for everything from walking trails to Little League ballparks and picnic areas. Some of the community parks are as small as two acres. Some run to nearly 25 acres. In total, close to 200 acres of Edison right-of-way land have been licensed to urban communities for general public park use.

A number of additional community parks are in the planning stage, according to an Edison official.

Right-of-way land is property under Edison transmission tower highways. The ribbons of land beneath these power arteries, generally running from 100 to more than 300 feet wide, add up to thousands of acres.

Much of the acreage (nearly 3,500 acres) is under commercial license to nurseries, ranchers, and farmers.

ORANGE CROP SPOTTY IN TULARE COUNTY

VISALIA — New-crop oranges are coming along in good shape, but the crop is spotty this season, according to weekly report from the office of Agricultural Commissioner Elvin O. Mankins.

Harvest of Cardinal grapes is continuing, with Thompson seedless coming on; early varieties of pomegranates are coloring; olives are making good growth, but crop is spotty; cannery peaches are being harvested.

18 EMERGENCY PATIENTS PER DAY IS AVERAGE AT SIERRA VIEW; PROCEDURES AND RULES EXPLAINED

The siren winds down to a low growl; overhead letters spell out "Receiving Ambulance;" beside the double doors is a bell with the brisk admonition, "Ring Twice."

This is the emergency entrance to Sierra View District hospital, in Porterville.

The wail of a police or ambulance siren means work in the emergency room. It signals the arrival of victims of violence, of air or auto crashes, of burns, of assaults, of industrial accidents, or of water accidents, heart attack, or attempted suicide.

These are genuine emergencies. But not all persons who show up at the emergency room actually are emergency cases. They often come in with fever, headaches, minor ailments that properly should be treated by a doctor in his office. Such use would conflict with proper function of the room, which is, to care for those in need of immediate attention.

The room is available 24 hours a day, and there is always a nurse on duty. Local physicians are on call, on a volunteer rotation basis.

A doctor must decide what is to be done about a patient: What medication he is to have, whether he goes home after treatment, whether he is admitted to Sierra View, or is sent to another hospital. The nurse may not diagnose, nor may she dispense so much as an aspirin tablet, without a doctor's orders.

In every case possible, the patient's personal physician is used. Ideally, the family of an ill person should call their doctor before leaving for the hospital. If their family physician cannot be reached, they should try to contact another physician. Only if this fails should a patient be brought to the emergency room.

In the event of a genuine

New Development In Tahoe Basin Being Deferred

SAN FRANCISCO — J.W. "Jack" Deinema, federal representative to the Tahoe Regional Planning agency, has announced that the Forest Service Regional foresters of the Intermountain region in Ogden, Utah, and of the California Region in San Francisco, will defer any new development of National Forest land having a significant impact on the environment of Lake Tahoe basin.

These activities include public campgrounds, building, ski areas, roads, borrow pits and timber sales. Approximately 50 percent of the land area within the Tahoe basin is National Forest land.

The Forest service has established a study team which is reviewing all existing management plans and practices on National Forest land which relates to the Tahoe basin. The Forest Service study team will provide the Tahoe Regional Planning agency with some of the resource data needed for the development of a fully coordinated plan.

completed; cotton is looking good, with a fairly heavy bloom and boll set; early-planted blackeyes are beginning to cure out; tomato harvest is slow and some fields are being disced; fall tomatoes are coming along in good shape.

Rangeland grass at lower elevations is getting short and some springs are starting to decline in volume.

emergency, the hospital will summon the physician most quickly available, usually the doctor on call.

Patients are seen in the order of arrival, however, when an emergency, or really serious case comes in, it has priority. Others must wait, and at busy times the wait can be long.

Young people under age 21, unless they are married or selfsupporting, need their parents' signatures for medical care. When industrial accidents are involved, the victims' social security numbers and the names of their employers' insurance companies are required.

The hospital charges for use of the emergency room and supplies. Physicians' charges are completely separate and are not included in the hospital's billing.

Generally the families of patients are required to wait in the nearby waiting room while the patients are being treated. Admissions to the hospital are made only on the orders of a doctor. He makes the decision and the hospital carries it out.

Friends of accident victims, if hospital personnel had their way, would receive information about those victims from their families. A nurse is called away from her duties to answer each telephoned inquiry.

Hospital policy precludes asking any physician to wait at the hospital for a patient to arrive, since doctors have been known to wait for patients who failed to appear. Policy also precludes sending an ambulance after a patient. That call is the responsibility of the victim's family or the police. Physicians on duty at the hospital do not make house calls. Their work is in the emergency room where much of the action is.

Frequently, the emergency room is the busiest area of the hospital. Use is growing annually, and every holiday sees a substantial influx of patients.

In 1967-68, 3,763 persons came to the emergency room - either as genuine emergencies, or as persons who felt they needed help when their private physicians were not available.

The following year the number grew to 3,775, and in 1969-70 it was up to 6,517. This averages 543 patients per month, or 18 per day, on the 1969-70 record.

Emergency room use swings sharply upward in the summer months and during holidays. On the three-day July 4 holiday in 1969, 100 patients came to the emergency room. On the three-day Labor Day weekend there were 110, and the Memorial Day holiday brought 85.

The physician on weekend coverage, the Registered Nurse, and aides on duty have their hands full with caseloads like these. The recent July 4 weekend brought in 129 cases.

The emergency room is equipped with two tables, four folding cots and can hold one more large stretcher. With oxygen, resuscitation equipment, supplies, and surgeons, it is there to save lives every minute of every day.

El Granito Back Issues, Photos Available

PORTERVILLE — Back issues of the Porterville High School El Granito, a special shipment of 1970 El Granitos, and hundreds of pictures that appeared in the 1970 El Granito went on sale yesterday in front of Jones Hardware in downtown Porterville.

Editor Kati Richardson says, "The back issues go back as far as 1928 and are being sold on a first-come, first-serve basis. All back issues will cost four dollars."

Miss Richardson noted that there had been a bigger demand for 1970 El Granitos than the number of books originally ordered. "So we got a special shipment to make it possible for us to get copies to those people who wanted one but were not able to buy a book," she said. She said copies of the 1970 yearbook will cost six dollars each.

Pictures offered cover every school activity including sports, clubs, classes and candid. Only the Senior portraits are being left out of the sale.

Miss Richardson announced that back issues of the El Granito available for purchase

Pacific Coast Spiny Rock Lobster
(Palinurus interruptus)

We go fishing a lot at Edison. Our favorite spot is the Pacific Ocean — just off our nuclear power plant at San Onofre.

What we're really fishing for are ecological facts.

During several years of operation of the San Onofre plant, we have cooled the condensers with sea water. What has been the result of this practice? Nineteen surveys at San Onofre have revealed no adverse effects on the marine environment from the warm water released. These studies were conducted by Marine Advisers, Inc., of Solana Beach, and are on file with the San Diego Regional Water Quality Control Board (which is under jurisdiction of the State Resources Agency).

Nuclear power plants are a dependable source of low-cost power for our customers — and a clean source of power, too. Although a nuclear power plant such as San Onofre is a source of some radioactivity — it is far below the limits allowed. Standards set by the Federal Radiation Council are rigidly enforced by the Atomic Energy Commission. Man has learned to control radiation so well that you could live next door to a nuclear power plant such as San Onofre for 20 years before receiving as much radiation as from a single chest x-ray.

Protecting the environment — the land, the air, the sea — is of great importance to Edison. And we are confident that nuclear power plants can help us do it.

NOMINATIONS ARE NOW OPEN FOR TULARE COUNTY ASC COMMITTEEMEN

VISALIA — Tulare County farmers have the opportunity to nominate by petition candidates for ASC community committee posts. The nominating period began July 28 and will close August 17.

"This year we hope farmers in Tulare county will nominate by petition full slates for all eight communities. A full slate means a minimum of six candidates to choose from in electing a community committee of three members and two alternates," M.L. Rogers, chairman of the Tulare County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said.

All ASC community committees are elected annually. The newly-elected community committeemen will convene shortly after their September election to elect one new ASC County Committee member and two alternates.

County Committee members serve three-year terms, with one new member elected each year. Alternates are elected annually.

Rogers explained that the County ASC committee administers agricultural programs such as marketing quotas and acreage allotments, price-support loans and purchases, conservation cost-sharing, and other farm action programs at the county level, dealing directly with producers. Community committees not only elect County Committee members and alternates, but also help the County Committee administer these programs.

"There's no red tape involved in nominating a community committee candidate by petition," Rogers said. "All that's really needed is a sheet of paper naming a candidate - and six or more signatures by eligible voters on that paper. Petitions are limited to one nominee each, but voters may sign as many petitions as they want."

"A farmer who is an owner, tenant, or sharecropper is an eligible voter in the community where his farm interest is. He can only nominate and vote in one community, however, even if he has farm interests in more than one."

The ASC Committee chairman said that if at least six eligible candidates are nominated by petitions submitted by farmers in their community, no other nominations need be made. However, if less than six are nominated by petition, the incumbent community committee will complete the slate, selecting candidates actively engaged in farming or ranching.

The United States calf crop this year is estimated at 45,955,000 head, up two percent from 1969.

August is the month when all sensible gardeners should probably go to the hills and forget the whole thing. However gardeners being gardeners you'll most likely stay home and defy nature by raising abundant crops of beautiful flowers. If so we are here to help in any way we can including separating you and your money.

For such purposes we have all sorts of plants in containers which may be transplanted any time you're ready. All they require is some mulch around their roots and a cold drink once in awhile. You may also prepare the soil and plant many items for fall. Some vegetable seeds prefer August planting including beans, corn, and peas. Others may be planted now or in September. These include carrots, chard, lettuce, radish, beets, cabbage and a bunch of other stuff.

The same thing is true of flower seeds. Sweet peas need early planting but others such as calendula, pansy, snaps, and stocks can go this month or next. The plants of calendula are already available in orange, yellow, or mixed colors. Which really makes us realize that fall is fast approaching.

The main thing this month then is to prepare the beds for fall flowers by working humus or steer manure into the soil. Then start the seeds or plants that require early planting. Follow this with sufficient water and lastly take advantage of the season and have a nice vacation.

projects needed on the fair grounds in cost ranges from a few dollars to several thousand dollars, with priority list for permanent improvement generally topped by those annual, temporary projects that are the most expensive.

In a general financial report Mel Carter, board treasurer, said that sale of exhibit space in 1970 was about $700 below 1969, with decline in outdoor space responsible.

General complaint from outside exhibitors, it was reported is that such items as cars, boats, recreation vehicles, and farm implements receive too much damage during the fair to make exhibiting worthwhile.

In connection with protection of exhibits on the fair grounds, directors reviewed costs for police personnel that during the 1970 fair ran $1,147.13, an amount that has been increasing each year for the past several years.

In an estimate of the fair's current financial position, Carter said that although income from the 1970 fair will run more than $19,000, expenditures will be above that figure, including capital improvement. A complete financial statement will be presented to the board and published, probably in November.

A list of suggestions involving improvement of the fair were discussed by directors; a letter of thanks for donating straw for the 1970 fair was authorized to John Briano; and a meeting of livestock department heads was set up, with date to be arranged.

Attending the meeting were: A.K. Hodgson, board chairman; Chester Gilbert, Bob Board, Mel Carter, George Carter, Wilbert Moench, Richard Owen, Joe Faure Jr., Bill Rodgers, Guido Lombardi, Jim Martinez, and, from the Porterville Jaycees, Dale Doty.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

George Day Ferguson had always wanted to be a navigator. So we gave him a map and a chair out on the poop deck, and he went to work. There he sat pointing out the way, and the pilot, like a nut, followed the finger. This was our first mistake. One of many, I might add.

The Delta and a houseboat and five characters are a wild combination. With "Fergy" as navigator, it was hilarious. My better half was captain, and his word was law. I was the first mate, Zeke Marks and Nancy were the crew. We took turns at the wheel, and we weaved down the channels, much to the distress of the beautiful yachts all around us. We had a vague idea where we wanted to go, and on the map it showed north. When we almost arrived at the Antioch bridge we found out that Fergy had the map upside down, so we turned around and went the other way. By this time it was getting dark, and time to moor. This was easier said than done. The crew was supposed to throw out the anchor while the pilot slowly pulled into the bank. One of the crew forgot that the anchor line was in a mess on the aft deck, so when the line started to follow the anchor both the crew did a wild horn pipe trying to keep their feet out of the rope. The bow stuck in the mud about 15 feet from the bank, and the crew couldn't reach the tree to tie the knot. Sooooo we backed out into the channel, and the wind and tide took over, and the boat did a complete circle, and we headed for the opposite bank where we wanted to moor in the first place. This bank was covered with wild blackberries and the boat made a dead run into the berries. Before we stopped the crew was covered with berry juice and scratches, and tying a line to berry bushes posed a little problem.

That evening we had a delightful dinner while watching the sun go down in what was supposed to be the west. Then it was really dark, and the wind and waves slapped against the hollow hull making weird noises that kept us awake most of the night.

The second day Fergy woke up pointed in the right direction, and we had a lovely time going up and down the various channels, stopping at nice little resorts, and enjoying the Delta. This is not counting running up on sand bars, blowing spark plugs, ramming into docks, and rocking over waves left by speeding boats. My favorite Editor said to only use up one piece of paper per column or I would tell you some more of our trip, but I guess you've guessed the rest.

Happiness is having great friends to enjoy a great trip with us.

MONEY FOR a hearing aid for Rudy Saucedo is being given to Rudy's teacher, Mrs. Raphael S. Pittman, by Concho Ramirez, left, representing the Connie Price Memorial fund; and by Isaac Gonzalez, representing The Comision Honorifica Mexicana-Americana. The Connie Price Memorial fund was established for the primary purpose of assisting Mexican-American children, while they are in school, with such things as books, clothes, and special activities, such as aiding a member of the Fabulous Studio band on the band's summer road trip. Rudy Saucedo is a student from Plainview who is attending Mrs. Pittman's auditory training class at Olive Street school. Because the hearing aid needed is quite expensive, several organizations have been assisting Rudy, with $225 now contributed. It is expected that a class in auditory training will also be set up at Monache High school for high school students. More information on this program can be obtained from Mrs. Pittman, 784-4767.

PUBLIC UTILITY ASSESSMENTS CONTINUE DECLINE IN COUNTY

SACRAMENTO — Tulare county officials have been notified that privately-owned public utility property in the county has been assessed at $53,760,310 this year for local taxation.

This compared to the 1969 total of $54,546,790 a decrease of $786,480, or 1.44%, according to the State Board of Equalization, which assesses these properties annually.

The statewide total for the 186 utilities was pegged at $4.6 billion, slightly less than last year, Member John Lynch said. Contributing to the decrease were such factors as equalization and lower earnings from many major utilities.

The Board announced two years ago that in 1959 it had embarked on a program to reduce the assessment level gradually from 50% of market value to that of locally-assessed property - 25%.

This year it dropped the percentage from 33% to 31% in following a Constitutional mandate for assessment uniformity between utility and all other property.

Utility value indicators include common stock averages, earnings, debt, reproduction cost less depreciation, and historical cost less depreciation.

Utilities can appeal the assessments during the first two weeks in August. Appeals will be granted or denied on or before August 17.

RILES COMMITTEE FORMED IN AREA

PORTERVILLE — Mrs. Anna White Garland and James Hanson are heading up a Porterville-area committee supporting the election of Wilson Riles as state superintendent of public instruction. Riles will be the featured speaker at a luncheon, August 17, at The Paul Bunyan in Porterville; reservations can be phoned to 784-2373.

OLD FAMILY NAMES

road was started in 1921 and was completed in 1922, Mrs. Cummings recalls.

But lack of roads did not seem to cut down Jordan Peak traffic. Other Porterville folks who signed the register in August of 1916 include: Walter Premo, C.O. Premo and Mrs. W.M. Burton.

Later in the season Ed Pratt rode by, using the "s" spelling of Portersville; Louise Barnes signed in from Terra Bella; Fred Conlee and George E. Davis from Strathmore; J.A. Wardlaw from Porterville and Guy H. Houston, from Springville.

In July of 1918, John Talley and Joe Hankey (someone else wrote that name since it is Hanggi) went by with a herd of Wardlaw cattle, heading for "Cow Camp;" later that summer Donald Sutch signed from Clavicle, and Owen Rutherford, along with Mrs. J.F. Becker and son, Philip, from Springville.

And in July, 1918, the mountains probably shook a little when a group of Porterville Boy Scouts went through: Gaylord Hubler, Paul Graham, Luther Land, Wallace Le Valley, Edwin Snider, Willie Walker, Loyd Hamilton, Thomas Harrison, Lawrence Means, Wayne McConnell, Harold McNutt, Wilko Mentz Jr., Clarence F. Schwartz, Everil Loyd, Lewis Houts, Loyd Carter, Ross Guinn, F.M. Ferguson, and C.T. Harrison.

On August 13, 1918, Ethel Miller signed in from Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

In 1921, PHS students, classes of '22-'24, "found the road rather dusty and rocky but arrived O.K." - Maudie A. Barngrover, C. Nelson Smith, and Esther M. Frame.

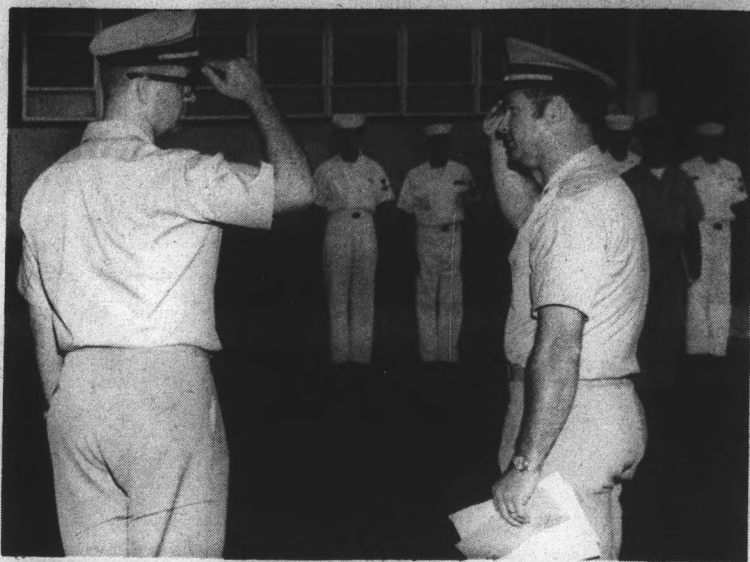

In that same summer, a note on the Register reads, "Started from Camp Nelson at 9:30 a.m. and arrived at Jordan Peak at 12:10, otherwise two hours and 40 minutes - some speed! A record for someone to beat. We are winning an Elderberry pie from O. McCabe for making the trip in six hours or less." Who wrote the note is not clear.

On May 4, 1922, Wesley W. Snider and Everett Sechrest signed in with the note, "Snow 20 feet deep." In July of that year, Edwin R. Prouty, of the J.C. Penney company, listed himself as from Kansas City and Porterville; on August 6, 1922, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McDonald, of Springville registered Donald McDonald with the notation "two months and 21 days old" - Joe was with the Forest Service and the family was headed for Hossack Meadow; Ludd J. Rutherford registered his address as Skunk Avenue, Camp Nelson; on September 3, 1922, signatures included Frank P. Cunningham, Hot Springs, Supervisor, U.S. Forest Service, and Paul Redington, San Francisco, District Forester; four days later it was the McDonalds again - Donald was noted as being three months, 21 days old.
